

PLAY FOR BERTHYLLIN CUP

WOMEN DO WELL IN RAIN AT HUNTINGDON VALLEY.

Miss Dorothy Campbell and Mrs. Caleb F. Fox Meet in Final Wisconsin Protest Against the Stinty Windup of Engineers Handicap at Nassau Links.

TURFMASTER, Oct. 19.—Although this weather was totally unfit for golf, or any other sport for the matter of that, the women contesting in the tournament for the Berthyllin cup at the Huntingdon Valley country club, noble, bravely faced the elements to day and played their matches in a driving rain and over ground that was in many places inches deep in water.

Under the circumstances all four players in the semi-final round play by no means bad golf, although of course they were unable to do themselfs justice. Miss Dorothy was the question, but neither Miss Dorothy Campbell nor Miss Ronald H. Barlowe much over forty five strokes down the cut journey of their match, which was won by Miss Campbell 1 up and 1 to play.

Mrs. Barlowe outdrove her opponent, but Miss Campbell's putting was quite deadly and it was her strength in this department of the game that enabled her to win and qualify to meet Mrs. Caleb F. Fox in the final round. Mrs. Fox defeated Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeek 2 up and 1 to play. The scores:

First Sixteen, Berthyllin Cup—Semi final round—Miss Dorothy Campbell, Hamilton, Can., defeated Mrs. Ronald H. Barlowe, Merion Cricket Club, 3 up 1 to play; Mrs. Caleb F. Fox, Huntingdon Valley Country Club, defeated Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeek, Philadelphia Cricket Club, 2 up 1 to play.

In the long run road improvement will bring more prosperity to the automobile industry than anything else. A Broad way automobile dealer yesterday "The best advertisement for motor cars is a happy expression on the faces of those who drive them."

Automobiles have reached that stage of perfection where mechanical troubles are but slight, and indeed very slight when a machine receives proper treatment. The pleasures of an automobile depend mostly on the kind of roads traversed. Some manufacturers are doing a wise thing in getting out route books for their users, which are distributed in the sections touched by the books, of course only the best roads are selected. When all roads are good roads there will be little need for touring directions—road maps will be the thing.

A tally kept for one hour on upper Broadway yesterday during the rain showed that just 88 per cent. of the traffic outside of trolley cars was motor driven. On the sides of several horse drawn wagons there appeared signs bearing this inscription "Horses and wagons for sale."

To wave a handkerchief or the arms and shout from the window is not effective than yelling or tooting the horn. However, it has been demonstrated that it is better to run over them than to have the driver do the "shooing." The one who sits beside the driver should wave away the handkerchief.

An increase of 60 per cent. the shipment of cars in the same month of 1910 in the Service Motor Company, report of the United States Motor Census, the outbound shipments filled 1,000 carloads of Maxwell, Stoddard-Detroit, Dayton, British pleasure cars and Sampson freight cars. The car loadings were distributed among the cars to all parts of the world.

The application of his mind in the up-keeping of the Alpinist motor car company, and the interest he displayed in his employees, the directors and department heads of the rubber company, a former president of the company, now vice-president of the United States Motor Company. Mr. Delisser was presented with a gold stop watch.

Mr. Layng bought the house last year through Wimans & May from George S. Brewster, who in 1907 acquired it through the same brokers from Mrs. Alice G. Hubbard. Mrs. Hubbard bought the property from the builder in 1903 and had Baumgarten & Co. refit it. Mrs. Hubbard also bought the house through Messrs. Wimans & May. The value of the house is generally placed at $200,000.

To the east is the residence of Mrs. Jennie K. Stafford, which she bought from Dr. Dillon about the same time Mrs. Hubbard bought her house.

Mrs. Hubbard has the house to the west, for which she paid Harvey E. Fiske $275,000 in October, 1908. The house is 37.6 feet wide and was thoroughly remodeled by Mr. Fiske.

The Fifth avenue corner is now being improved with an eight story building.

The Seventy-third street property which figures in the day's news is the home of Robert L. Levy, Esq., which adjoins the northeast corner of Park avenue. It is a four story and basement brick and stone dwelling, 18x102 in size. The buyer, who is a client of Henry D. Wimans & May, will occupy the house after the extensive alterations planned have been finished.

This is the second dwelling on this block sold this week. The other was the, which the former owner, Emil Frank, was holding at $50,000. This apparently indicates a demand for high class dwellings that part of the East Side.

This block has seen several important developments in recent years. The Park avenue corner adjoining the Levy property, George F. Fahys, last year erected a dwelling for his own use. On the site of the old Brandon apartments, a pioneer in that section, at the opposite northeast corner, a fine manor is being erected across the course directly in front of his machine. The boy stopped on his highly polished car and said to the goads to stop a stop which was so unexpected that the spectators were astonished. The boy speedily arose, brushed his trousers, muttered "Gee" and lost himself in the crowd.

I believe," said Judge James A. Collins of Newark, who was fighting war against the members of the necessary committee, "that the only remedy for the misuse of automobile horns is to make the penalty for their misuse severe."

That the ultimate solution of the warning signal problem is restrictive and not prohibitory legislation is apparent to most people who have given the subject the greatest thought. The greatest trouble for motorists is made by the actions of persons between eighteen and twenty years of age. These should be required to wear a license plate on the front of their machines.

Murphy had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach, and catching Harlen Tommy in the corner, swing rights and lefts at the jaw. Murphy was willing to let Brock have further punishment, but about now that he was stopped so quickly he expected that the spectators were astonished.

The boy speedily arose, brushed his trousers, muttered "Gee" and lost himself in the crowd.

He started the second round by close combat, both driving in short hooks to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach, and catching Harlen Tommy in the corner, swing rights and lefts at the jaw. Murphy was willing to let Brock have further punishment, but about now that he was stopped so quickly he expected that the spectators were astonished.

The boy speedily arose, brushed his trousers, muttered "Gee" and lost himself in the crowd.

He started the second round by close combat, both driving in short hooks to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.

Murphy missed a right hook to the jaw, and drove a left to the stomach. Murphy sent two in the face, but Brock came back with a left swing which caught Murphy on the nose, and the blow was broken. As he came up in the third session blood was flowing from his mouth. He tried several times to put one over but Brock was shifty and elusive, and the two fighters exchanged a left to the jaw and a right hook to the stomach.

Murphy tried to do the same Brock came in with a right hook to the jaw, and the blow sounded ending the round. Brock left the ring, and after delivering blows to the law would step away from Brock's rushes, coming back with short left hooks to the face. Brock had a good right when he worked often at a fast walk, and the opening of the first round each left a mark for the jaw, but Brock blocked cleverly.